

Carlos Reyes, M.A.

In addition to my duties as Associate Dean of Academics for Keiser University, Kendall Campus, I also work as the Online Liaison for the same. At the same time, I am an adjunct instructor for the department of English and Communications at Miami-Dade College. I have studied at Florida International University, Boston University, Charles University, and Penn. State University, where I received my Masters in Comparative Literature. I am currently pursuing an Ed.D. at the University of Miami. My research interests include contemporary art and literature, town-gown relationships, copyright, and student development.
