

Chris Stabile, Ed.D.
Director of the Center for Teaching and Learning
Keiser University
Ft. Lauderdale, Florida

Chris Stable is Keiser University's Director of the Center for Teaching and Learning. He has 10 years of experience as a teacher and leader in K-12 education. Dr. Stabile earned his Ed.D. in Child and Youth Studies from Nova Southeastern University and has earned a graduate certification in Applied Behavior Analysis from Southern Illinois University. In 2005 he joined Keiser University where he has developed the Center for Teaching and Learning into an educational resource for both faculty, administration and students. He has assisted numerous departments enhance their student learning outcomes and he has engaged many students in study skills seminars. Dr. Stabile has hosted educational presentations at teaching and sharing conferences. He also works as both an adjunct online graduate and on campus undergraduate faculty member, and is an Educational Specialist for ACCSC.