

INSIDE HIGHER ED

New Programs: Leadership, Career Colleges, Environmental Science, Law and Aging, Arts Education, Prosthetics and Orthotics

May 4, 2009

Share This Story

- Boston University is starting a master of science degree in leadership at the university's Brussels campus.
- Keiser University is starting a master's program in career college administration.
- Manchester Community College, in Connecticut, is starting an associate degree in environmental science.
- Stetson University is starting a master of jurisprudence degree in law and aging.
- The University of the Arts has started a certificate program for teaching artists to teach trained artists how to work in the schools.
- The University of Hartford is starting a master's program in prosthetics and orthotics.

— Scott Jaschik